Project

Advanced ML Methods For Dyslexia Biomarker Detection| (2023 Dec-may 2024)

Led a dynamic final year project utilizing advanced ML techniques to detect dyslexia biomarkers from handwritten images, employing CNN algorithms on a dataset of 100,000 images. Seamlessly integrated machine learning functionalities into an online web app. Leveraged Python, PHP, HTML, JavaScript, CSS, and more to develop a robust platform. Managed user authentication, activity control, and content management as an administrator. This impactful project underscores my proficiency in machine learning, web development, and user-centric design.

Flutter blog app | (2023 OCT-JAN2024)

The Flutter blog app exemplifies clean architecture, featuring a sophisticated authentication system with Supabase and a dynamic content management for blogs. It employs BLoC for state management, ensuring a smooth UI experience. The app also showcases best practices in dependency injection, error handling, and offline data management, setting a high standard for Flutter development.

Builders Site | (2020 Dec-may 2021)- Riss Technologies Kannur, Kerala

Build a comprehensive Python application catering to building constructors and owners, featuring project planning, resource allocation, real-time progress tracking, and seamless communication. This platform enhances collaboration, ensuring transparency and efficiency throughout the construction process, ultimately delivering successful and timely project outcomes.
